

MEDICAL DIRECTOR For Highly Respected EATING DISORDERS PROGRAM
DALLAS, TEXAS

As medical director of the Eating Disorders Program at Presbyterian Hospital of Dallas, you will lead a very successful multidisciplinary program. You will oversee the care of patients in the 16-bed, free-standing day hospital and patients who are admitted to the inpatient unit. A highly skilled team is already in place to provide excellent care and to facilitate a smooth transition as you take on the director's role. You will also have the opportunity to follow patients who have completed the treatment program. If you have an interest in doing cutting edge research, you will find strong support for your endeavors, but research is not a requirement of the position.

Because you will be based at Presbyterian Hospital of Dallas, your daily routine will be convenient and efficient. Located just north of downtown Dallas, Presbyterian Hospital of Dallas is the flagship of the Presbyterian system and part of Texas Health Resources. THR is one of the largest faith-based, nonprofit health care delivery systems in the United States and has been recognized for their outstanding work environment. In March 2007, the Dallas Business Journal named THR one of the Dallas-Fort Worth's "Best Places to Work." Hospital & Health Networks, the journal of the American Hospital Association commended THR for being among nation's "100 Most Wired" companies for the seventh time in eight years in their July 2006 issue. And in 2005, THR was included in a listing of the largest and most innovative uses of information technology on the InformationWeek 500.

Dallas is known for its beauty, culture, architecture, nightlife, and entertainment. The city's new slogan "Live Large. Think Big." describes the essence and vitality of a city built on big dreams and an attitude that all things are possible. This richly diverse city offers you a thriving culinary scene, leading arts district, countless luxury accommodations, professional sports, trendy entertainment districts and endless shopping opportunities.
