Overview

For many years, the ASAM Board Review Course has played an important role in helping physicians prepare for the addiction medicine exam and increase/expand knowledge on substance use disorders. The ASAM Review Course is widely recognized as the essential primer for physicians and other healthcare professionals who are preparing for a career in addiction medicine. This two-and-a-half-day course is mapped to the addiction medicine exam blueprint and features outstanding faculty. To register or for more information about additional resources visit the ASAM website: www.ASAM.org.

Addiction Medicine (ADM) Official ABMS Subspecialty

In March 2016, the American Board of Medical Specialties (ABMS) announced the recognition of addiction medicine as a new subspecialty under the American Board of Preventive Medicine (ABPM). ABPM will administer the board exam for ADM.

During the next five years, physicians who have a primary ABMS board (including current addiction medicine specialists with a primary ABMS board certification) may apply to take the exam to become or continue to be an addiction medicine specialist. After the five-year period ends, a one-year fellowship will be required to become an addiction medicine specialist.

Applications Accepted April 3 – May 31, 2017

Physicians interested in taking the exam and becoming certified in ADM need to complete the application on the ABPM website. The online application period will be April 3 – May 31, 2017.

Exam Administration

A variety of exam dates and locations will be offered October 16 – 28, 2017. Applicants will be notified of approval electronically by ABPM. Approved applicants will have the opportunity to select their exam location and date upon approval notification. To learn more about the addiction medicine specialty and the exam, go to www.theabpm.org.

Learning Objectives

Upon completion, participants should be able to:

- Demonstrate practical knowledge in the neurobiology of addiction and articulate its activity in terms useful in a clinical setting
- Describe the effects of alcohol, tobacco, and other drugs in both tolerant and non-tolerant individuals
- Describe the process for diagnosing addiction and differentiating the symptoms of addiction from those of other medical or psychiatric disorders
- Explain the various pharmacologic and psychosocial treatments for addiction disorders, and describe the factors that should be considered in selecting a treatment modality to match a patient's needs
- Describe the precipitants of relapse and current evidence-based practices to prevent and manage relapse
